understood officials of the Canadian National and Canadian Pacific Railway companies are working on plans for a merger of the express services operated by both.

The Dominion Government is not concerned in any negotiations regarding the express companies, and it has been emphasized here the matter is one entirely for the railway themselves. Under the railway bill which recently passed through all stages of enactment in Parliament and now awaits aigning by the Governor-General, a merger of the two railways is expressly prohibited, but there is nothing to prohibit a joining of the express companies or other services ancillary to the railways such as telegraphs and hotels.

While the royal commission on transportation, on the report of which the railway bill is based, did not specifically recommend mergers of ancillary services, it found the companies were operating competing services which had led to capital expenditures beyond the requirements of the public. THE EUROPEAN BOAT ROCKS AND CAUSES APPREHENSION

Statements by Chancellor Hitler and Vice-Chancellor Franz von Papen during the last few days are regarded with such gravity by Great Britain, France and the United States that these three powers are reported to be bringing pressure to Bear upon Hitler to be moderate in his disarmament pronouncement before the Reichstag on W. J. L. W. J. W. W. J. W. W. J. W. W. J. W. J. W. W. J. Wednesday. They are trying to keep the situa-tion from "boiling over," said one spokesman in Paris, "so that a skilful bridge may be constructed from the Isle of Elba, where Hitler has placed himself, back to the mainland."

While France does not expect Hitler to declare openly that the Treaty of Versailles is another "scrap of paper," the French believe Germany intends to rearm quietly, simply announcing that France's failure to disarm has violated ing that France's failure to disamin his volume to the treaty and that, therefore, Germany is a free agent. The view persists in France, moreover, that tanks, big guns, and military airplanes already are in course of construction in German factories.

Several morning newspapers in London to-day discussed what they described as gathering war clouds in Europe and the growing war spirit in Germany. The Times calls upon Germany to disprove—if possible to disprove—that one of the main objects of Hitlerism is to prepare for a war of revenge." Saturday night's speech by Vide-Chancellor von Papen, in which he compared the present situation in Germany with that which ob-tained in 1914, has caused considerable concern in political circles and it is expected it will form the subject of question and discussion in the British

It must be apparent to Hitler that his regi It must be apparent to Hitler that his regime can not last despite the apparent support he has attracted to himself and his party by methods which have provided a diversion from a domestic condition which can not be ignored indefinitely. There are still very many millions of republicans in Germany who do not propose that Hitlerism shall revive Hohenzollernism permanently, but who now are obliged to hold their peace or become subject to the kind of "suppression" which went now are obliged to noid their peace of becomes subject to the kind of "suppression" which went on in Italy in the early days of the Fascist regime. But there is a vast difference between the char-acter of the two peoples. Nor should it be forgotten that Mussolini no longer is shouting from the housetops that guns are more effective than words. Time and office have mellowed him very

the housetops that guns are more effective than words. Time and office have mellowed him very considerably.

Until Hitler has made his announcement on disarmament to the Reichstag, however, future developments can be the subject of speculation only. In the meantime, Mr. Norman H. Davis, United States Ambassador-at-large, has asked Foreign Minister Joseph Paul-Boncour of France to take a moderate stand towards Hitler's expected declaration in order that Great Britain and the United States might be able to follow him. This may be taken to mean that the creation of a panic in advance should be avoided at all costs.

It is inconceivable that even a mountebank like Hitler will try to set Germany against Britain, the United States and France merely to gratify the United States and France merely to gratify the intense nationalistic and militaristic aspirations of his party. Thus, as The London Daily Mail says to-day, he will have an opportunity of showing on Wednesday whether he is a great or only a little man. He will have to try to undo a lot he already has done to regain some semblance of outside respect. If he adds to his folly he will hasten his downfall and put back the clock of his adopted country's progress,

HALF A CENTURY WITH THE C.P.R.

Few railroad men in Canada were as widely known and esteemed as Frank W. Peters, who passed away in Vancouver on Saturday morning. various capacities he had been connected with railroad operation for sixty years, and up to the time of his death was the oldest official in the service of the Canadian Pacific Railway in point

When a boy in his teens Mr. Peters became a telegraph operator with the Intercolonial, the Canadian government road connecting Montreal with the Maritime Provinces, which was con-structed before Confederation and which will go down in history as Canada's senior transportation system. In 1881, at twenty-one years of age, he joined the C.P.R. at Winnipeg. At that time the Canadian Pacific Railway Company project was in the early stages of its development under private auspices, and Mr. Peters, therefore, was one of the very few officers of this great organization. one of the very few orincers of this great organiza-tion whose association with its progress and desti-nies exceeded half a century. He held numerous positions during that period, and out of a long and varied experience became one of the best-informed railroad men on the continent. In recent years he was general superintendent for British Columbia.

was general superintendent for British Columbia.

Mr. Peters was not exclusively a railroad man. He had a wide variety of other interests, and was especially noted for his activity in the Canadian Club movement. He was an entertaining speaker, particularly when he indulged in remanscences of the Canadian Pacific Railway during construction days. Beyond all this, he had an exceptional canadity for making friends, and these exceptional capacity for making friends, and there are few important points in the English-speaking world with which he did not have some intimate human association. His passing will be keenly regretted in numerous places where his fine personality and many amiable qualities will long be remembered.

THE INTRICATE BUSINESS A OF TARIFF PYRAMIDING

The Toronto Star has been considering the case of golf balls imported from Great Britain and the duty which has to be paid on them when entering Canada. The nominal preference is twenty per cent less ten per cent. But it has discovered that under the present plan of pyramiding duties the "preference" is turned into a "handicap" of 150 per cent. Here is the narrative:

A shipment of 100 dozen golf balls was

A shipment of 190 dozen golf balls was ordered at four shillings, three pence a dozen. The rate of exchange at the take the shipment arrived gave a value of 887. For duty purposes its value was considered $103.

This is the way taxes were piled on:
Duty at 20 per cent less 10 per cent on $103, comes to $18.54, bringing the cost up to $123.54. Sales tax on $121.54 at aix per cent saids another $7.29, making the total $128.73.

Enrice tax of three per cent piles on $3.65. Special shipping duty is still to be added. Thus is computed by taking the difference between the value of the pound on the day the shipment was received and the value for duty purposes, which has been fixed at $4.60. In this case the pound stood at $4.14. So another 26 cents for every pound must be added. This comes to $5.51.

The grand total of all these duties is $5.55.

It appears, however, that a few days later the importer got a letter from Ottawa saying somebody had discovered something and the $36 duty should really be $130.64. "Trade conditions in Great Britain," the letter explained, "have obliged the Britain, the letter explained, have designed. Canadian government to declare that any golf balls imported shall not, for duty purposes, be considered as costing less than seven shillings, six pence a dozen. If they are bought for any less than that, the difference between the actual price and seven and six must be paid the government, as well as all

Here is the amended story of this deal and the duties charged:

Duty on $182—the price that would have been aid for the balls had they been seven shillings.

paid for the balls had they been seven shillings, aix pence—$52.76.
Sales tax on $182 plus $32.76 comes to $12.89.

Excise tax adds another $6.64.
Then comes the special dumpling duty. In the light of the "discovery" government officials had made this impost amounts to $77.02.
This brings the grand total up to $130.64 taxes on $67 worth of goods.

Perhaps after the World Economic Confer ence the tariff business will not be such a compli-cated affair as the incident to which The Toronto Star refers. We can imagine the importer in this case wishes he had never ordered the golf balls.

DO THE JOB THOROUGHLY WHILE ABOUT IT

A well-known author now in Canada thinks overseas travelers bound for the Chicago fair should proceed by way of Canada. He asks "what could be better than a summer voyage from a home port to Canada? First the Atlantic: them the broad St. Lawrence: then Quebec and Montreal. After that the traveler would like a glimpse of Eastern Canada; and experts can say whether it Eastern Canada; and experts can say whether it would be best for him to penetrate the continent by rail or by the Great Lakes."

As The Ottawa Citizen says, this is a good idea, and the proposed route would be more economical, more picturesque and more varied in scenery than any other. May we add, however, that if overseas visitors to the Chicago exhibition could fell the tree in the most fetting style. want to round off the trip in the most fitting style, they will not consider Chicago their terminus, but will continue westward and get a glimpse of the Rockies and the Pacific Ocean—not forgetting the scenic attractions of Vancouver Island?

BATTLE FOR NAME OF NEW FEDERAL RIDING

A lively battle is going on in the interior of the province between Kamloops and Revelstoke over the new name for the newly-carved federal riding. The new district runs along the line of the C.P.R., includes Revelstoke, Salmon Arm, part of the provincial constituency of Yale and part of Lillooet. Revelstoke favors calling the redang Shuawap, the name of the lake between Kamloops and Revelstoke. Kamloops, on the other hand, through its City Council and its Board of Trade, has strongly urged the sitting member for Cariboo to demand that the new name be Kamloops.

Kamloopians point with pride to the history of Kamloops, the first place where the white man set his foot when the Astors established Fort Kamloops, its right to be called the capital of the Interior, and the fact that about fifty per cene of the voters in the proposed new riding live there-abouts. The mayor of the city reminded the Council and Board of Trade the other day that while there was a lake called Shurwap Lake. Shu-swap was not the name of any definite place apart from this, that it was merely a flag station and the name of a tribe of Indians. So the two railway divisional points are fighting it out.

WHAT OTHER PAPERS SAY

AMERICAN INFLATION

The "new deal" in American currency creates a new peril and a new compulsion. The statesmen assembled in Washington miss act promptly and boildly if the world is to be saved from plunging into the type of ruin which overtook Germany in 1923.

THE BUSINESS REVIVAL

There is no question but that this province to-day holds more optimism than at any time since the economic crists began. People at last are beginning to believe that the end of the trouble is, if not setually at hand, at least in plain sight. We need only look at what has been happening in this city of late for justification of this optimism. Business most certainly is experiencing a marked revival, the Baster trade was beyond all expectation.

Shelbourne St. Girls Hosts to Mothers

The Canadian Girls in Training of Sheibourne Street held a very successful "mother and daughter" banquet on Friday, when fifty girls, mothers, and guests, sat down to supper. The tables were beautifully decorated in red and white, and the flowers, red tuilps and white narcissi carried out the scheme. A delightful programme had been arranged. Miss Olive Rowbotham proposed a toast to the King, and a reply was made by singing the National Anthem. Miss Olive Dawson proposed a toast to 'Our Mothers,' and a reply was made by one of the mothers. Mrs. Watson.

The guest speaker of the evening was Miss G. Beall, who gave a very interesting talk on "The Ideal Home." Four of the girls gave a short exercise, and Miss Evelyn Zala a recitation. Miss Winnie Waites, one of the representatives from the Emmanuel C.G.I.Pabrought greetings and good wishes from their department.

Those contributing to the musical part of the programme were the Misses Evelyn Rhodes, Molly Court, Peggy Sedgman, Doris McBain, Mildred Court, Ethel and Annie Rhodes. The Canadian Girls in Training of

PLUS THESE ADVANTAGES

"Tempered Rubber" Tread - toughest and longest-wearing in every test. Exclusive to Dominion Tires. Buttressed Side Walls - prevent damage from curbs

THIS TREAD

YOU don't need to be a tire expert to see that Dominion Tires are Safe Tires. Look at that deep-notched "Cog-Wheel" tread—note the exceptionally full road contact. Here are definite guarantees that Dominions grip - that they give you the Anti-Skid protection you need.

And your eyes will also tell you that the Dominion tread lasts. Just examine the Dominion Tires on your neighbor's car-particularly if they have gone 20,000 miles or more. You will find it hard to believe that any Anti-Skid could wear down so slowly.

Notice, too, the sturdy side-wall reinforcements that guard against curb shocks and blow-outs.

If you are buying a new car, make sure it is equipped with Dominion Tires-the choice of leading car makers. If you intend to keep your present car, replace those dangerous, worn-smooth tires with new Dominions. Then you can take long trips with safety to precious lives. And you will save money - for Dominions offer more safe mileage.

On the lower mainland severe injury has been done to the raspberry crop, with lesser damage to strawberries and the logan crop. Blackberries are showing up more favorably. Cold weather and heavy winds during the winter did considerable damage to small fruits and vegetables, also to nursery stock.

In the Salmon Arm, Sorrento and main line districts tree fruits show little winter injury but are a trifle behind in development. Strawberries suffered severely, the crop in some sections nearing a total loss. Tomato planting has been delayed by cold weather, while potatoes and onions are coming along fairly well.

For the Armstrong, Vernon, Oyama, Winfield and Okanagan Centre sections there was no winter injury except to apricots, which were severely hit and will show a crop decrease of 75 per cent. The peach crop will be 80 per cent of the normal with cherries pears and plums heavier than for several years. The estimate for strawberries is 75 per cent normal. Vegetable's have been retarded by cold weather. Winter wheat suffered a 60 per cent loss through early winter freeze.

Claude Belcher, rangy keystone sackman for Camerons, was credited with the first hit of the season, when he made a nice two-bagger in the second inning. Slingers started their half of the third inning with "Barney" Barnswell flying out to Essler at centre field. Holden, Royal Othe next man up, struck out, and Tommy Restall, classy first baseman, came up to the plate. He made a nice salingle and scored when Constable smacked out a clean triple to the left field fence. The inning ended with Slingers one run to the good when Red Bennison was struck out.

Wheat Off Cent In Dull Pit Session To-day At Winnipeg

Associated Press

Winnipeg, May 15.—Aided by a lastminute influx of moderate buying, wheat futures recovered small fractions of earlier declines on the Winnipeg Grain Market to-day, but the close was still 1 cent below Saturday's finish.

Earlier, values had been nearly 1½ cents lower at one time. Thereafter, traders took little interest in the market and values moved sluggishly for most of the day. At times the ticker was idle.

Dorothy Dix

And Mrs.

Quarreling Is the Most Dangerous Pastime in Which Husbands and Wives Indulge, Says Dorothy Dix, for in Anger We Say the Truth, and No Kiss of Reconciliation Wipes Out Its Memory

MAGAZINE writer has lifted a voice upholding the right of husbands A and wives to quarref. He contends that one of the choicest pleasures of matrimony is the daily spat, and that for a married couple to get along together without ever having a dis-agreement does not show that they agreement does not show that they are ideally happy, as is generally supposed. It merely proves that they lack interest in each other, or that one has been completely subjugated by the other, or that their differences are so vast that they have given up trying to compose them and just call it a day and let things ride.

To a certain extent, one is bound to agree with this point of view, for it is obvious to the most casual observer, that belligerent husbands and wives fight simply for the love of a shindig. Personally, I have assisted, as the French say, at hundreds of bloody battles between husbands and wives and I have never seen one that could not have been prevented by the use of the slightest tact and forbeatance on the part of either of the combatants or that could not have been called off at any part of the fray.

Also, it is observable that expressions that are perfectly innocuous when used by outsiders are the fighting words when uttered by husbands and wives to each other, and that husbands and wives go to the mat over opinions and matters of taste and trivial acts that they would not think of resenting

All of this leads to the inevitable conclusion that married couples quarrel because they enjoy it. It infuses pep into the monotony of domesticity. It stris the stagnant blood and makes it leap through the velus with excitement. It gives them a chance to blow off their resentment against life in general and blame each other for all their own fallures. It gives them a chance to say to each other all the mean things they would like to say to other people, but dare not. It is their great emotional safety valve.

Otherwise they would not quarrel. They would deal diplomatically with each other's little peculiarities instead of going at them hammer and tongs. They would carefully avoid the topics that they knew were as good for an argument as a nickel is for a package of chewing gum instead of going out of their way to drag them in by the heads or the tails. And when either perceived that the other's feelings were a little ruffled he or she would return the soft answer that turns away wrath and smooths down the fur.

The fact that husbands and wives fight because they like to fight is The fact that husbands and wives fight because they like to fight is still further proved by their getting along amicably with everybody else but each other. Mr. A. never has a run-in with his boss or the men with whom he works. Indeed, he is so good-natured and easy-going that they almost burst into the chorus of "For He's a Jolly Good Fellow" whenever he appears on the scene. Mrs. A. is celebrated for her sweet and amilable disposition among all her friends and is put on difficult committees in her clubs because of her ability to handle cantankerous people with gieves. It is only when Mr. and Mrs. A. meet in the family circle that they put on their fighting clothes and mix it, with no holds barred.

Now far be it from me to interfere with the favorite indoor sport of so many married people, but however enjoyable it may be, I am convinced that quarreling is the most dangerous pastime in which husbands and wives can induge. Of course, they deny this and say that they always kiss and make up, and that each knows that the other didn't really mean the things that he or she said, and that they are forgiven and forgotten.

But, unfortunately, this is not true. For we all know that in anger, as in wine, the truth comes out and that in a quarrel the taunts, the hitter accusations, the devastating criticisms that are hurled back and forth are just what the party of the other part really think of us, are just what he or she feels toward us, but that prudence has kept him or her from carrier to the contraction. her from saying to us.

No kiss of reconciliation wipes that out of our memories. It lingers and festers in our consciousness until it finally poisons the whole relationship between a man and woman.

If, however, husbands and wives get a strange and sadistic pleasure out of knifing each other. I wish they would hold their little orgies in private and not force the innocent bystander to witness the horrible ordeal.

Some of the most agonizing moments I have ever spent have been passe in listening to the criminations and recriminations of husbands and wives who heaped abuse and villification upon each other and accused each other of half the crimes on the calendar, while I stood helplessly by, well knowing that if I sided with either one both would turn upon me and rend me limb from limb.

Also, I wish, in the interest of artistry, they would stick to one grievance, instead of dragging in extraneous matters, such as each other's parents of the hatethe woman bought thirty years ago or the time the too well the election of Wood out, perhaps, it is the fact that the family quarrel covers so m and that makes it so enjoyable.

To-morrow—Pond Aquariums. Steps in a frog's life.

Many a person has captured young polliwogs, or tadpoles, and kept some or all of them alive in a jar of pond water. As the days go by, the polliwogs change. They increase their size, and legs grow from their bodies. Hind legs come before the front legs. At length we find that their tails have vanished, after having become shorter and shorter. Instead of polliwogs we have little frogs!

Between the hatching of the eggs and the coming of the frogs, there is a period of about ten weeks.

A frog does not reach full size the first summer, or even the second summer. Only after it is three or four years old can we call it full-grown. In the meantime it has speed its skin several times. There is a new skin under the old one, so the frog does not need to worry.

It is a strange thing, but observers have reported seeing frogs catting their old skins. Most of the time, however, represented.
